

■ Singapore's Changi Airport to Raise Stake in BAPL to 32%

SINGAPORE Singapore's Changi Airport International (CAI) has decided to increase its stake in Bengal Aero-tropolis Projects to 32.2% from 26% held since the project began in 2009. The Kazi Nazrul Islam Airport in West Bengal will improve the connectivity between the North East Indians and the BAPL townships as well as industrial zones. The airport being set up by BAPL in Andal, near Asansol is expected to commence operations from December.
